

→ GEAR ←

Take a Hike

Let nature take its course with these handsome hiking accessories, on or off the trail

BY DINA MISHEV

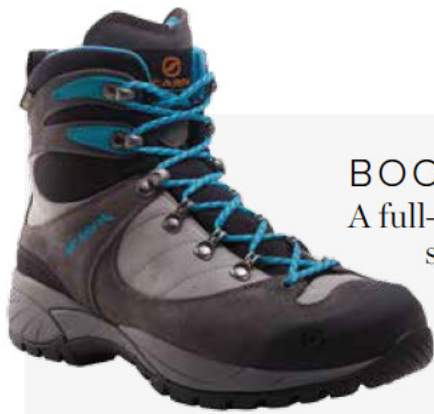

Bottoms Up

Inside, this stainless steel hip flask holds 6 ounces; outside, it's got room for an entire mountain range. $20, LIQUIDCOURAGEFLASKS.COM

Part of the Crew

Henleys have been around forever. Bonobos updates theirs with a trimmer fit and cotton slub. $68, BONOBOBOS.COM

BOOT CAMP

A full-featured hiking boot that's supportive and light? Sure, if it's Scarpa's new R-Evolution GTX. Did we mention the Gore-Tex lining? $239, SCARPA.COM

Hiker: WARREN GOLDSWAN/STOCKSY

River Deep, Mountain Tough

Chaco's OutCross Evo 2s are built to tackle land and water with mesh uppers, rugged soles and a neoprene lining. $110, CHACO.COM

BABY ON BOARD

Made to order in Oregon, this 100 percent cotton onesie is for the hikers of tomorrow.

$16, TRULYSANCTUARY SHOP AT ETSY.COM

Hike Softly, Carry Light Poles

Black Diamond's Alpine Carbon Z Trekking Poles collapse into three sections and are as tough as running the rim-to-rim-to-rim. $190, BLACKDIAMONDEQUIPMENT.COM

Run Wild

Sleekly efficient, Osprey's Aura Pack features anti-gravity suspension, which allows you to pack it up without killing your back. $260, REL.COM

HAPPY CAMPERS
Find more great hiking and camping products at doradomagazine.com.